

The one special book , of all those that I have written, is 'My Fairy Garden'

But I have made a monumental decision.

I will not be creating an eBook!

I want children to have the pleasure of holding a book in their hands, feeling it, turning the pages, and so on.

I want children to connect with a book, not have something to pile on the table with a kindle reader, a mobile , a tablet, some headphones, in other words cold, plastic, technology.

When you can't find the charger, or you have misplaced your in-ear sound buds, a book is always there for you to hold and adore.

Here is a little secret - It never runs out of charge.

Ever.

So connect with it.

Stay with it.

Let it into your heart.

Love it.

Care for it.

And so many years down the line, when it is a little worn, it will have a personality of its very own.

In fact it will have a soul.

It will speak to you in a language that your heart will understand.

And how long does it take to pick up a book and start reading it?

The time it took for me to say out loud that last sentence.

Love your book, because it will always love you.

Forever.
